But first, a quick win!

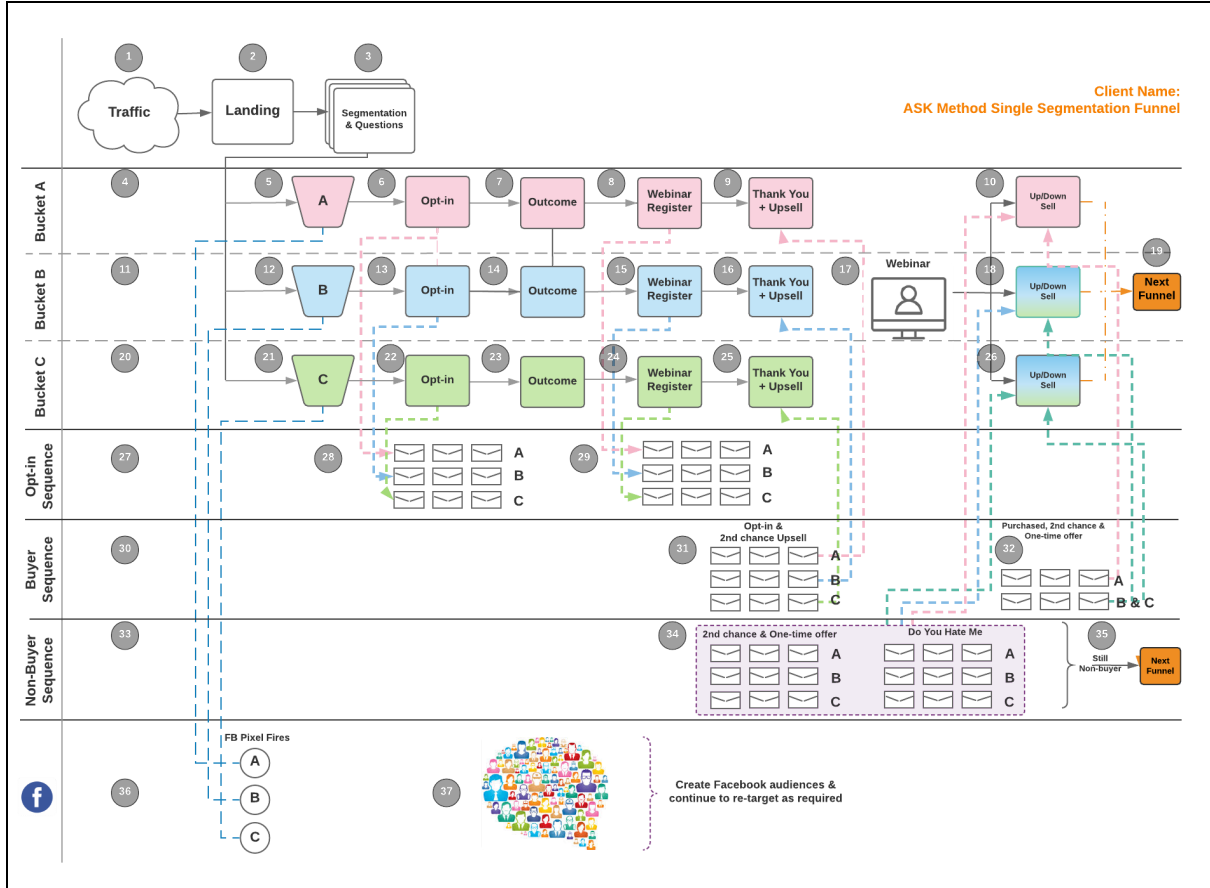

The ASK Method is a segmentation methodology. It's a big deal with lots of moving parts during planning and implementation.

The client made $10k right out of the gate and we were only just getting the data from the Deep Dive Survey (DDS). Paid for myself before I even got started! #winning.

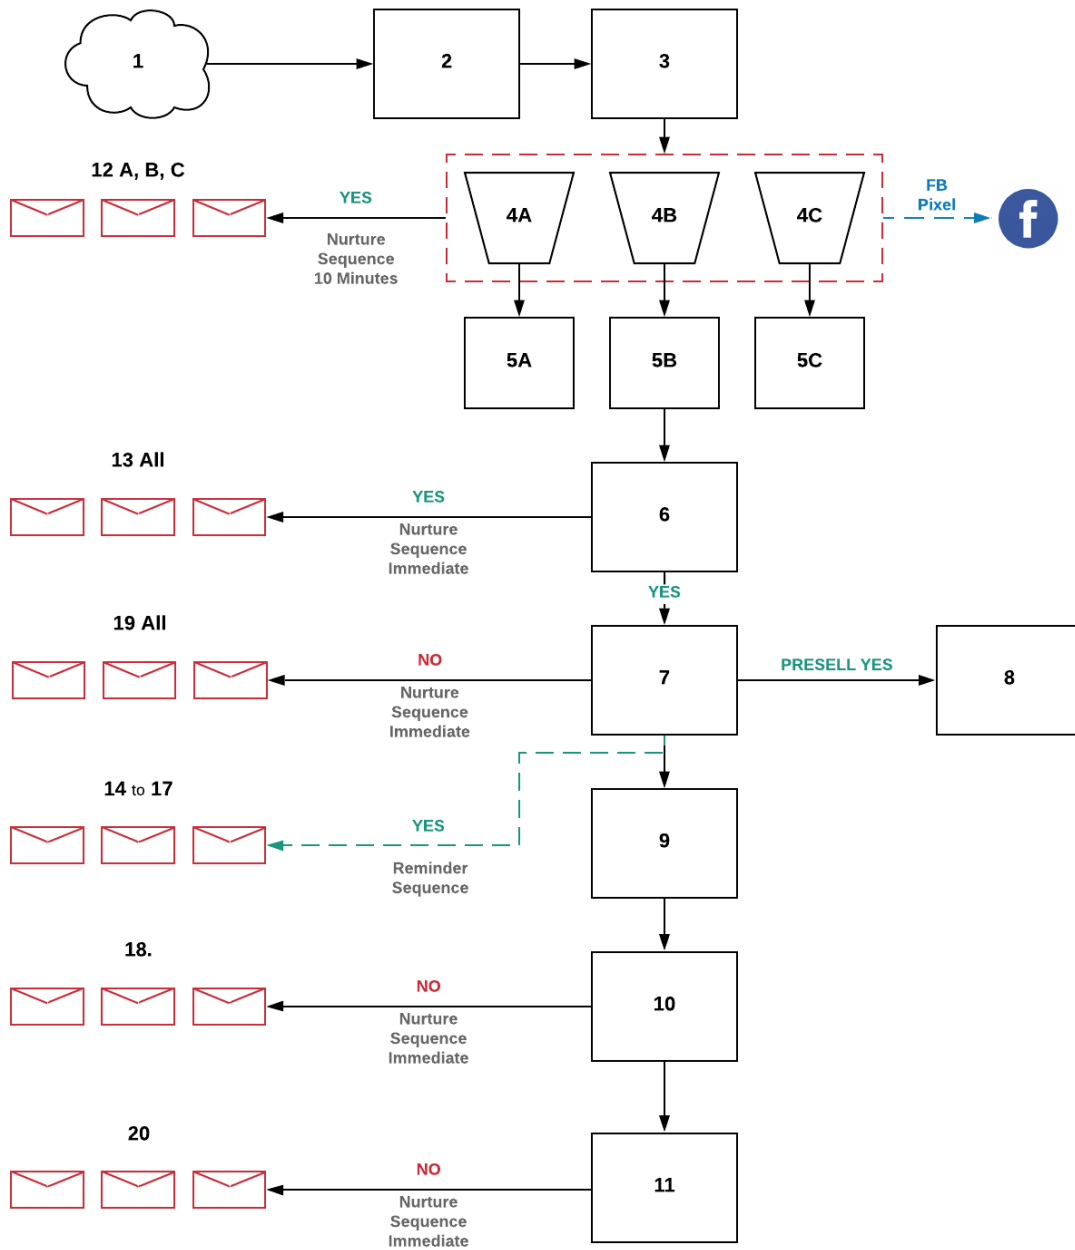

I was engaged to write the DDS, the Segmentation funnel and implement the tech (bucket.io).

Hola Ahoy!

Here's something I've noticed lately ...

Some people love being the centre of attention.

They're the type that become politicians or actors who have a crazy secret that gets 'leaked' and there's a scandal and tears and cameras etc. You know the ones.

Or maybe they dye their hair magenta [and they talk being cyan — when everyone else just says PINK].

Perhaps they run for President or start a movement or a petition.

How'bout those fun peeps who post 17 selfies a day, now that's hard work ...

You get the picture attention!

Some people hate attention [I won't talk about them coz they're anti-attention]

Which one are you? [And no, this isn't a trick question]

Whichever group you're in, I'll tell you this --

If you're an entrepreneur and you need buyers, clients and Facebook | Twitter | LinkedIn | Instagram [and YES, Instagram has words and a bazillion #tags so COPY]

So one kind of attention you should be basking in.

And that one kind of attention is:

Great copy.

On your website, your sales pages, your social media posts, your emails.

- Words that sound like you, and make your audience fall in love with you.
- Words that let people know you're exactly what or who they've been looking for all this time..
- Words that give people a shiver when they're thinkin' "OMG [your name] totally gets me!"

That's positive attention.

And guess what?

This kind of attention boils down to -- means more fans, more subscribers, [more stalkers], more sales, more money.

Who isn't up for that?

I have a PROVEN way to help you get that attention!

So:

- If you want the power to write addictive, money-making, attention-getting copy...
- If you want people writing to you that "your blog post last week changed my life!"
- If you want to be able to dash off an email that gets buyers within minutes after you clicked "send"...

But guess what?

You ain't gonna get any of that attention if you're not tuned in on:

You Can Come Up With Words That Sound Interesting & Compelling

Let's start by saying "It's going to be Okay"

If you're like most people I help, you're probably a pretty good writer

You've even kept that winning, A+ book report you did back in '97 on Wuthering Heights to prove it.....

But in the meantime it's 2017 and you can't seem to make your Web copy, Blog posts, Facebook ravings or emails come alive let alone convert into cash?

Afterall, we all know that boring copy is the perfect formula for busting that insomnia streak
ZZZZZZZZ.

What you may not know is that it's probably that impeccable grammar on your About page or Facebook Ad that's causing the problem ...

You know the one

It's about as dry as my 'snow-blasted' face in a Thredbo winter? (Yes, I've tried aloe vera, paw paw ointment and sorbolene, thanks.)

See what I did just there?

I threw in a quick anecdote and got your mind running with an open loop [then I closed it straight away]

Telling a Story or throwing in an anecdote are just two quick ways to 'draw' a scene or interest that make your reader sit up and take notice!

Writing for business today is a whole different ballgame

You need to be more personal and conversational.

I'm an expert at helping you loosen up so you start sounding like a real person instead of a robot.

The way I see it is sometimes, we have spinach in our teeth and we need to be told about it so we can fix it.

It's the same with Copy, we don't get any better by just thinking we're an amazing writer or by channelling *Mrs Clarke (my Year 9 English teacher).

Today, you're in luck!

I've put together an awesome event that will tell you E-V-E-R-Y-T-H-I-N-G you need to do to: get going with breathing some life into that dying copy (R.I.P. boring copy) . . .

Perfectionism & Procrastination Are Copy Killers!

Ever wonder if serial killers get lazy and need encouragement?

Or if their perfectionism prevents them from doing what they love? Yeah, me too.

Sometimes I wonder if they ever say "I just can't be bothered plotting and planning let alone going through with it. I'll get it wrong anyway or do it in the wrong order <raspberry>"

See what I did just there?

I told you a quick story and got your mind running with an open loop it's a kick a*se way to side track that 'perfect procrastinator' inside each of us and make him/her sit up and take notice!

If you're like everyone else, you might think about writing the most awesome copy E-V-E-R on a Sunday afternoon ...

But come Monday, there's suddenly 7 million other things to do and you get over it

Maybe you put it off for another day ...

... or you re-read, edit, spellcheck, double space and italicise that puppy till it's perfect!

Believe me when I say I can absolutely help you get focus, write great Copy and kick that Procrastination to the kerb.

Imagine how relieved you'll feel for the rest of the day when you smash it out before 9:15am.

What YOU do is important, those people aren't going to just serial-kill themselves you know [wink, wink] ...

Let's get going

I've put together an awesome event that will tell you E-V-E-R-Y-T-H-I-N-G you need to do to breathe some life into that 'never gonna happen in a million years' copy ...
